GOOD GATHERING AT LADIES' AUXILIARY

J. F. Gibbs, George M. Sullivan and D. C. Dunbar the Speakers.

TELLING ARGUMENTS ARE BROUGHT FORTH

Keynote Is Opposition to Control by Mormon

If enthusiasm and determination count for anything, the Third ward of this city, formerly one of the main stays of the church candidates, will certainly go American, and chiefly through the efforts of the Ladies' Auxiljary to the American party, which held a rousing rally, attended by fully two hundred people, at the home of Mrs. B. A. Ridd, 664 West Fourth North, last

The principal speakers of the evening were J. F. Gibbs, who recently separated from the Mormon church for reasons which he expressed; George M. Sullivan, a prominent political worker, and D. C. Dunbar, president of the American Marked attention to the speakers showed the gathering to be something more than a mere social assembly, and that those present were opened to arguments.

The women present predominated in mumbers—they appear determined to carry that ward in spite of all opposition and regardless of previous failures. There were many men present who came to learn how the ladies would manage things and learned—to their ad-wantage. The addresses were pointed and no questions at issue were evaded, but there was a total absence of carpwas a total absence of carp ing on the personnel of the parties in opposition.

J. F. Gibbs on Church Rule. J. F. Gibbs was the first speaker of the evening He opened his address with a short sketch of the history of the Mormons from the time of Presi dent Woodruff's manifesto. He said he had been horn a Mormon and had been brought up in the teachings of that sect, but that he took objections to the liberties used by the leaders of the church which were denied the rank and file of the dominant church. "After the manifesto had gone into effect," he said, "and when the sons of the church in obedience had separated from their wives—and they did it with as much regret and pain as would the men living in monogamy, and when Joseph Smith was testifying he. when Joseph Smith was testifying be-fore the Committee on Privileges he was asked the question if he did not continue his former practices relative

"He replied that he did. When Sena-tor Hoar inquired if he did not realize that he was not only breaking the laws of the government but also the laws of God, Joseph Smith replied, 'I will take my chances. "I can not believe that the leaders are better than the rank and file of the church, nor better than the people who were compelled to live in monogamy.

'In the amnesty issued by President "In the amnesty issued by President Woodruff the church promised to keep out of politics. President Woodruff said there would no longer be a party in the church, and that we were free to enter whatever party we wished. This has not been lived up to. The children of the Mormons are taught from their infancy that the leaders of the church are prophets, seers and revelators, and as such they vote for them twice each year in the tabernacle. So you see what year in the tabernacle. So you see what a chance a layman would have against them in politics.

Smoot's Election Bad Faith.

"The election of Reed Smoot to the United States Senate was a breach of United States Senate was a breach of the amnesty contract. They have reentered politics. Consider the statement made by John Henry Smith, a man whom I was taught to honor and love, while on his campaign through the southern part of the State. He said that he would not say all Democrats were horse thieves, but that he would say that all horse thieves were Democrats. I had entered the Democratic party and I wonder that there was a party and I wonder that there was a single Democrat left among the Mor-mons of that locality after such a state ment from him.

"There is much discontent among the rank and file of the Mormon church because these conditions exist and the leaders reserve for themselves privileges which are denied the rank and file."

Sullivan's Forceful Speech.

George M. Sullivan followed Mr. Gibbs. He spoke concerning the wrong-ful imposition of church leaders inter-fering with civic affairs. He declared that the most sacred thing in the world was lovalty-loyalty to the nation and to the law.

"Any great power," he said, "which exerts an influence over the franchise of a man or woman is wrong. I feel that when any man sees fit to direct my polities and affect my judgment he is treading on my sacred right as an American citizen.

my polities and affect my judgment he is treading on my sacred right as an American citizon.

"It is well to have parties disagree, for that calls forth independent thought, and all the great things which have been accomplished have been through independent thought. As long as I live my hand shall never be lifted to tear down any church or religion that may be founded. Men should believe as they choose. But I do believe it right, and as long as I live I shall oppose any church that attempts to control my civic rights. Church and state affairs should be separate, but it has been the failing through all history that the great spiritual ruler desires also to become the temporal rulers.

"I have noticed it that one year when the Republicans would win, the Democrats would stand around with long faces and declare the church was mixing in polities; the next election, when the Democrats would say the same thing. Then is it any more than fair, right or logical that a party should be organized entirely independent of the church? The American party is made up of all classes, all working in the interest of Balt Lake."

D. C. Dunbar's Remarks.

In the address of D. C. Dunbar the work done by the American party dur-ing the past two years was pointed out, and special emphasis given to the rebuttal of the carping atacks of the opposition has been making to its administration.

He first spoke of the exclusiveness of the Mormons and the manner in which they banded together and did the bidding of their leaders. "When we heard President Young tell us it was wrong to sell one piece of land to a Gentile, that it was wrong to spend one dollar with a Gentile, we did not comprehend it. So it was that the Mormons became a seclusive people."

He then spoke of the candidates, mentioning those of the opposition with words of praise, for he refused to include in personalities, but reverted constantly to the principles at issue. In dulge in personalities, but reverted constantly to the principles at issue. In speaking of the reasons for the American party's wide improvement of the city during its term of office, he said: "In looking over the list of the people who voted the American ticket last fall I find that they pay 68 per cent of the taxes. It won't hart the Mormons to have John Bransford in office; he owns more real estate in this city or the taxes. It won't half the more mone to have John Bransford in office; be owns more real estate in this city than any ten of them combined, and do you for a moment think he would put his name to a resolution or an ordinance that would hart Salt Lake?

"Indge by the past what the American would do in the future if reinstated. They have made more municipal improvements during their term of office than all that was done in the twelve years previously. The oposition says the American party has been extravagant. All bids have been advertised, they were made public and any man in the United States had the privilege of bidding. In every case the bid has been awarded to the lowest responsible bidder.

bid has been awarded to the lowest responsible hidder.

"I noticed a statement recently in one of the morning papers in which it was said that the city administration had overdrawn the income $300,000. The revenue for this year—this past year—from licenses will wipe out all current indebtedness and leave a healthy balance. This year we collect taxes on more than $6,000,000 worth of taxable property than we did list year, and this increase has been due to the work of the American party, who have made it worth while for investors and home-seckers to come here. vestors and home-seckers to come here

Gambling Is Stopped.

You remember the resorts of the red-light district when gambling was carried on at every turn, where labor ers were enticed, drugged and robbed ers were enticed, drugged and robbed or induced to play the games that could not be beaten. It was not sixty days after the American party went into office before gambling was closed and has been ever since. I understand that the saloon element is opposing the American party this year because they are forced to close their establishments one day in the week—on the day of rest.

"I would rather have this element in the opposition and have the mothers and sisters of the city supporting the and sisters of the city supporting the party in which I stood than have the support of these men and the opposition

At the close of Mr. Dunbar's address
W. H. Ridd and J. E. McGinty, the two

OPINIONS OF POLITICIANS ON QUESTION OF FUSION

The Republican only lacked 900 votes of carrying the city last year, and we believe that this year no chance and we believe that this year should be taken to permit the party of religious intolerance, called the Ameri-religious. Religious religious intolerance, called the American party, to score a victory. Religious questions buve no place in politics, and the party that makes them an issue is going back to the dark ages and spirit of the inquisition. This is the twentieth century, and realizing that it is necessary to defeat the party of religious intolerance we have offered the Democrats a chance to join hands with us to do it. That is all fusion means to us, as we are sure to elect our city ticket.

"I am against fusion as a matter of principle." said Bichard P. Morris, bemoratic candidate for mayor. "The Tribune this morning stated the attitude of the headquarters and my personal view correctly. I am opposed to fusion except in the ease of the First and Second wards, where it was deemed expedient by the word committees which have exclusive control of the situation. "I have been against fusion from the outset as a matter of principle," said John Dern, who was chairman of the Democratic city convention. "In our John Derk, who was chinan and Democratic city convention. "In our committee meetings before the convention the subject of fusion was brought up and only a small majority favored it. Such men as Judge King, James H. Moyle, Judge Dwe, Judge Powers and Brigham H. Roberts opposed it, and we thought no room had been left for it. I have always been a Democrat and am willing to stand with the party. My position on fusion has never been in doubt. Neither has the position of the men I have manned. We have been and will be opposed to fusion in any form."

"There will be no fusion on our ticket," said Chairman James Devine of the Smoot Republican committee. This was in answer to an inquiry as to whether Dr. Plummer, candidate for mayor, had withdrawn. Such a report gained wide circulation Friday. Dr. Plummer has not resigned and will not resign, nor will any candidate on the Republican city ticket. The ticket and the party are well prepared to win and will win without coalition with other

FUSION REPUDIATED BY DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE

New Seven of Seventies.

Under the action of the meeting fusion is repudiated, condemned and execrated, but yet it is practically effected by the church political manipulators in every ward. The situation did not look hopeful to many of the Gentiles who went to the meeting expecting to eradicate fusion from the entire ticket. According to the analysis of one of them, the church politicians now have seven candidates in the field on whose success everything will be staked. In the First they have Hodgson and Murdoch, and in the Second Curric and Smith. These candidates are on both tickets and will receive the combined vote of both parties. In the Third, Fernstrom; in the Fourth, Hall, and in the Fifth, Wallace, are on both tickets and will receive the combined support of both parties. There is no hope that Wallace will win in the Fifth, however. Thus the church manipulators, operating the church manipulators, operating through the "Federal bunch," have seven candidates who will receive the full vote of both parties. Some of the full vote of both parties. Some of the Gentiles present at Friday night's meeting felt that the Republican church machine had really gained all that fusion could gain in spite of the resolutions that seemed mollifying. How they will like the situation when they learn that the workers of both parties are to be turned loose to work for the election of these seven Councilmanic candidates these seven Councilmanic candidates remains to be seen. Committee Helpless.

Committee Helpless.

While fusion was deprecated in the First and Second and a fire alarm turned in in the other wards the committee was forced to recognize its utter helplessness to stay the hands of the church manipulators. Chairman Iverson of the First ward was defiant, having the fusion deal ready for filing with the Recorder Saturday. Legally, it was found, the ward committees acted within their powers and in the other wards there was no way to get the Democratic candidates off the ticket. They could only defeat the success of the church scheme by refusing to qualify if elected—and they are not on the ticket for that purpose. The seven men, added to the one church Councilman who holds over, would make a majority and serve over, would make a majority and serve as an impediment to any progress under Mayor Bransford, whose election is con-This new "seven of seventies" in the

FERNSTROM IS DESPERATE; AMERICANS SEE VICTORY

"Fernie" Fernstrom has attempted to feather his nest in the Council by a private deal with the "Federal bunch" by which his name has been added to the Republican ticket. So beset has the "terrible Swede" been since the campaign in the Third ward started by those who refuse to support him that he sought to make his election sure he sought to make his election sure by forming coalition with the Smoot machine. He attempted to induce his running mate, Cowburn, to withdraw, but Cowburn, it is understood, refused to be a sacrifice to insure "Fernie's" re-election. Finding that he was sure to be defeated if on the Democratic ticket alone, Fernstrom abandoned his running mate and is out for himself alone. It is an open secret in the ward that he will trade Cowburn for his ob-stanacy in refusing to get off the ticket to make way for a Smoot candidate. Brigham H. Ridd and J. E. The American city committee has put up a number of red and black posters in Fernstrom's ward, asking the voters if they want Fernstrom or if they want Councilmen who will be free Americans. The appearance of these posters greatly worried "Fernic," who now declares that he will do some bill posting himself. He says he will ask whether the people want their Councilmen to give proxies to "Tave Tunbar and Frank Seegrist" for the use of the "inner circle."

As a matter of fact, the American committee has made large plans for bill posting and will use nearly one hundred of the best stands in the city. The posters will deal with the general phases of the campaign and the ward issues.

The quarteste gave several selections, the Misses Nina and Lucille Hill sang campaign songs and Miss Isola Schrack sang a solo. There was also an instrumental solo by Miss Marie Murfit. COLORED VOTERS FOR AMERICAN PARTY

The meeting of the Colored American club at the residence of Charles S. Seals, 556 Somerby street, was a most successful affair. Mr. Dinniny, the principal speaker of the evening, delivered an instructive and interesting address, which was well received by the audience. Mr. Dinniny said that, though the church claimed no interest in politics, he wished to call attention to an instance in the voting of the Fourth ties, he wished to call attention to an instance in the voting of the Fourth ward two years ago, which gave the Republicans 784 and the Democrats 1332 votes. Last year it was completely reversed, being 1338 for the Republicans and 762 for the Democrats. He attributed this remarkable reversal of political feeling to that subtle news service of the church, known as "grapevine telegraph." He called attention to the remarkable rise in value of real estate in the past two years, and remarked an instance where a neighbor of his had advertised his house for rent in a morning paper, and when he returned home at lunch time found sixty-five answers to his advertisement.
